Curriculum Vitae

Jared Jones

Department of Philosophy
Columbia University
1150 Amsterdam Ave
New York, NY 10027

+1 (804) 426-7133
jwj2119@columbia.edu
https://jaredwjones.github.io/

Areas of Specialization – German Idealism (esp., Kant & Hegel), 19th-and 20th-Century European Philosophy.

Areas of Competence – Early Modern Philosophy, Social & Political Philosophy, Metaphysics.

Education

PhD, Columbia University (ongoing). Philosophy. (Intermediate degree of M.Phil awarded.)
BA, The College of William & Mary (2022). Philosophy & Mathematics.

Dissertation

Title: Structures of Subjectivity in Hegel's Logic.

Committee: Frederick Neuhouser (advisor), Axel Honneth, Wolfgang Mann.

Abstract: My dissertation is about Hegel's account of subjectivity in his Science of Logic. "Subjectivity", in Hegel's context, captures what makes us thinkers and doers. Given the range of questions about our knowledge, agency, and the metaphysics of mind and self that this would link up with, it's natural to wonder whether a unified theory of subjectivity is possible at all. Hegel presents such a theory in his Logic, an understudied aspect of late portions of that text. I argue that the Logic seeks to show that knowledge and practical agency are activities only possible for a being with a certain metaphysical structure: the structure of a subject. On Hegel's theory, we are to interpret the subject as a living thing that represents objects with two sorts of reflexivity: a reflexive sensitivity to its own representing and a similar sensitivity to its actions. I present his account of what it means for us to be things, living, and reflexive beings as the culmination of attempts to answer general philosophical questions related to subjectivity. Can subjects be "things" at all? What would they have to be like to be governed by norms? How would they have to represent to know? How must they relate to their own actions? The account that emerges situates the subject in the world (like Hegel's realist predecessors), while retaining key insights of his idealist predecessors on the autonomy of thinking and willing.

Publications

Translations

"Hegel's Theory of Absolute Spirit: Reflexive Practices in Hegel's Social Philosophy" (2025), by Markus Gante. European Journal of Philosophy. (Edited by the author.)

Presentations

Conference Talks

"Intuition, Phantasy, and Art as Absolute Spirit in Hegel's Aesthetics" (2024). APA Eastern Division Meeting. Symposium session.

Responses

Response to Pablo Pulgar Moya's "From Nothing to Nature: The Extensivity of Logical Space in Hegel" (2026). New York German Idealism Workshop.

Response to Bangrui Chen's "The Metaphysical Basis of Hegel's Critique of the Kantian Moral Worldview" (2026). APA Pacific Division Meeting. Invited.

Response to Omar Quinonez's "The Nature of Need and the Need of Nature: Hegel and Feuerbach on What it Means to Have Needs" (2025). APA Eastern Division Meeting. Invited.

Response to Markus Gante's "Hegel's Theory of Absolute Spirit" (2023). New York German Idealism Workshop. Invited.

Teaching Experience

Teaching Assistantships

History of Philosophy III: Kant to Nietzsche (Spring 2026), with Taylor Carman. Recitation.

Metaphysics (Fall 2025), with Achille Varzi. Recitation.

History of Philosophy II: Aquinas to Kant (Spring 2025), with Caroline Bowman. Recitation.

Political Philosophy (Fall 2024), with Frederick Neuhouser. No recitation.

Methods and Problems of Philosophical Thought (Spring 2024), with Melissa Fusco. No recitation.

European Social Philosophy (Fall 2023), with Axel Honneth. No recitation.

Further Pedagogical Experience

Lead Teaching Fellowship (2026-2027). (Fellows receive pedagogical training and present at events on pedagogical issues in their departments.)

Teaching Development Program (2026-2027).

Service Roles

Professional Service Roles

Co-Organizer of the New York German Idealism Workshop (2025-Present).

Anonymous Reviewer for Noûs (2026).

Departmental Service Roles

Organizer of the German Idealism Reading Group (2023-Present), sponsored by Axel Honneth.

Organizer of the Graduate Student Workshop (2024-2025).

Graduate Student Representative (2024-2025).

Co-Organizer of the Critical Theory Reading Group (2023-2024), sponsored by Robert Gooding-Williams (2023) and Axel Honneth (2023-2024).

Organizer of the Graduate Student Lunch (2023-2024).

Co-Organizer of the Columbia-NYU Graduate Student Conference (2023).

Languages

English – Native Speaker.

German – Proficient Speaking & Reading.

French – Proficient Reading.

Latin – Elementary Reading.
